

The Daily Gazetteer.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 1. 1736.

91° 447.

Yesterday arrived the Mail due from Holland.

HEY write from Constantinople, that there has been a general Discharge of the Artillery from the Seraglio, Top-Hana, and the Tower of Leander, upon Advice which the Grand Seignior received by an extraordinary Courier, that the Seraskier of the Budziak Tartars, had only enter'd the Ukraine at the Head of a great Body of Troops, ravaged a considerable Part of Province, and carried near 80,000 Inhabitants, Subjects of Russia, into Slavery; but that as he turned home, he met with and defeated 5000 Russians, and took a Convoy of 400 Waggon which they were carrying to Count Munich's Army. The Seignior has notify'd this News to all the Sovereign Ministers at the Porte.

All the Letters from Leghorn confirm the Departure of that Person from the Island of Corsica, who ever since last Spring so awkwardly counterfeited a Sovereign Prince; with these Particulars, viz.

On the 21st of October last a French Ship arrived at Leghorn from Corsica, which had on board the Baron de Neuhoff, who was dressed like an Abbe, and accompany'd by the Advocate Costa his chief Secretary, by his Chancellor, by a Gentleman of his Bed-chamber in the Disguise of a Fryar, and his Secretary a Native of Florence, by two Youths of the City of Leghorn who were his Pages, by the Son of Giacaldi one of the Chiefs of the Malecontents, with several of their Officers, and other Persons that form'd his Court. There were on board the same Ship 30 Genoese Soldiers of those taken Prisoners at the Action of the Red Island. As soon as the Baron landed, he set out Post with Collo and most of his Retinue, as some say for France, and according to others for Naples, by way of the Ecclesiastical State; but the Curious are very much perplex'd to know which Way he went. The Officers that went over with him from Corsica are to enter into the Service of the King Don Carlos, and to one of them who has been raising Recruits in Corsica for his Neapolitan Majesty's foreign Regiment which is forming at Naples, he has made a present of the 30 Prisoners above-mentioned; and is said they are likewise to go into that King's Service.

As to the Manner of the Baron's leaving the Island, it appears that he came off with a very good Grace, as may believe the Report of some of his Courtiers whom he left behind him at Leghorn, particularly Chancellor and his Son, Giacaldi's Son, and the Pages above-mentioned; which is also confirm'd by the last Letters from Corsica, with these farther Particulars, viz.

About a Week before he came away, the Baron having summon'd all the Chiefs of the Malecontents to Sarsena, he told them that he was not willing to keep them under any longer Suspence; that their Fidelity and Confidence in him oblig'd him to make a particular Effort for their Service, and that he had resolv'd to go in Person to fetch sole Succours which he had been so long expecting. Upon this, all the Chiefs assur'd him that they assist'd in their former Resolutions, and tht they sign'd their Interests intirely to his Care, and their Persons to his Disposal. After this, the Baron nominate three of the Chief of them to command his Absence. On the Day of his Departure, they all accompany'd him to the Place where he sat on board, when he embrac'd them several times, very tenderly, and assur'd them that they would quickly see him again, and that his Return would be crown'd with such Success, as they would have Reason to rejoice in. Mean time it may be learn'd from what the Officers say whom the Baron left at Leghorn, that the World will soon know what kind of Succours the Baron has promised to him, and by what Power they are to be furnished. Most People confidently affirm, that the King Carlos will declare for the Corsicans, and that will make a Present of their Island, when revoked, the Chevalier de St. George, which being only a Surmize, partly founded upon a Visit lately made to that Gentleman at Albano by the Duke of Berwick, who is since returned to Naples, is not to be depended on without farther Confirmation.

It is remarkable that the Genoese at Leghorn affirm, the Baron went off of the Island at Day-break; that the Republick thought it good Policy not to hinder him, and that the other Leaders will soon follow his Example: But the Genoese seem to talk only at Random, it being not usual for People who go off at such a silent Hour, to be so well attended.

Mean time they write directly from Genoa, that the Republick is pleased with the Turn which the Corsican Affairs begin to take in their Favour; for according to the last News they had from the Island, some of the Leaders of the Malecontents had not only enter'd into a Negotiation with the Deputies of the Republick; but had actually promised to make their Submission, provided they were allowed certain Terms, as particularly such Sureties as they could depend on for the promised Amnesty, and a few other Privileges, besides the Exemption from Taxes for Ten Years. On the other hand, 'tis not believed that Theodore's Absence from the Island will be a Remora to the Accommodation.

The Letters from Leghorn, don't mention the Duke de Montemar's Departure from Spain; but they say every thing is just ready for the Evacuation of Tuscany; that Biscuit is baking for the Ships that are to transport the 10 Spanish Battalions that remain there out of the Country; and that the Imperialists, which quitt'd the State of Lucca, are ready to let out in order to take Possession of that Country.

They write from Rome, that the Nephew or Cousin of the late Duke of Ormond, having served in the Spanish Army till he was 50 Years of Age, is arrived in that City and turn'd Capuchin Fryar: They add, that before he enter'd into the Order, he gave the Poor a considerable Sum of Money which he had received from his Relations.

The Letters from Venice, mention the Enterment of Colonel Elias Burgess, the English Resident, who died there in the 75th Year of his Age.

Yesterday se'nights died at the Hague in the 36th Year of his Age, Myuhéen James Godefroy, Baron of Boetzaer, Lord of Nieuven, first Member of the Nobility of Holland and West Frisland, President of the College of the Deputy Counsellors of South Holland, Great Keeper of the Seals, Governor and Master of the Registers of the Feudal Chamber of that Province, and Grand Master of its Forests, Titular Abbot of the ancient Abby of Rhynsborg, Director of the East India Company to the Southern Quarter, or Chamber of Rotterdam, Great Counsellor of Rhynland, and its Dykes, and High Bailiff of the Hague, &c.

The Prince of Hornes, Daughter of the Earl of Ailesbury, whose Death was lately mentioned from Brussels, died in Child-bed just after she had been deliver'd of Twins, and was 30 Years of Age.

The Loss which the Inhabitants of the District of Hamburg alone suffer'd by the late Inundation there, is computed at 2 Millions of Crowns, or as others say, 3 Millions of Rixdollars. There was a Dyke broke down in the Dutchy of Bremen 56 Foot in breadth, so that all the neighbouring Country was laid under Water. Four Vessels were cast away lately by a violent Storm near Dantick, and 3 others sunk off of Pillau, on the Coasts of Pomerania: Fourteen others were run ashore also on the Coasts of Courland, and besides the Loss of the Merchandise, several of the Crew were drowned.

The full Sum of 500,000 Rixdollars for the Bank at Copenhagen is subscrib'd.

There's a remarkable Account from Noyon in Picardy, of the Baptism of a Japonese in the Cathedral there by the Bishop. He is about 32 Years of Age. The History of his Life as they give it us, favours somewhat of a Romance; but such as it is, take as follows. Being born at Japan, he was taken at 7 Years of Age by the Jews, and then by the Corsairs, who carry'd him to Turkey, where he was forc'd to embrace the Jewish Religion. He was led by his Fate sometime after to Jerusalem, where he was circumcised, and going from thence to Spain with some Jews, he fell into the terrible Hands of the Inquisi-sition with some other of those poor Wretches, one of whom was burnt alive for exclaiming against his Brother, who on his Death-bed had abjur'd Deism. After the Japonese had been some time in Prison he had his Liberty, and having rambled up and down a great Way, he took to the Woods or Fields, where he lived on Roots and Acorns for fear of being again taken up. After he had rov'd about in this Manner for 7 Years, he came to Picardy, where about the Beginning of last Spring, he was found in a Wood by a Miller, who seeing him naked, thought him a Savage, and sent his Men to catch him, who took and carry'd him to St. Quintin, to the House of the Parson of St. Eloy, who kept him 7 Months, during which, he has taught him French enough to be understood, and instructed him in the Christian Religion.

We hear that next Sessions of Parliament a Bill will be brought in, for the more speedy and certain Payment of Tythes; that the said Bill will be General, and on refusal of Payment, the Money to be levied by Distress, as in Case of other publick Taxes; this will prevent troublesome Suits to the inferior Clergy, for the Recovery of their just, legal Dues, and obviate all Objections, however Groundless, that are raised against them, for ineffectual Prosecution on that Account in the Spiritual Courts.

A Bill is also talk'd of, relating to the Effect of Excommunication, which 'tis said will be on the Plan laid down by the ingenious and learned Dr. Stebbing, viz. to strip them of the terrible Consequences that follow their being supported by the Secular Arm, and to leave them in their original Simplicity; so that no Man may be hurt on that Account, either in his Body or Goods.

The Persons who now are Delinquents, with regard to the Gin Act, are generally poor, indigent People, who run from Place to Place as they are detected, Persons of any Fortune or Character having declined all Attempts to evade it; and indeed the good Effects of the said A&t, are so sensibly felt, by Persons of all Conditions in Life, that it is now generally acknowledged to be an Act of the greatest Service to the Publick.
